ictoria High School, the city, and the people have a Touch of Class. With 2076 people on campus, VHS has experienced some of its best days during the year. Since its doors opened in 1958, accomplishments and recognition have accumulated to establish the special pride that is unique to Stingarees. Overseen by Principal B. F. Erskine, the school is one of two public high schools in Victoria which provides a stimulating environment for academic and individual achievements. These achievements which included state finals for girls' basketball, state journalism and speech qualifiers, state track winners and so forth has set

VHS apart from mediocrity. These and other outstanding contributions were the key to success.

Many who attended VHS found numerous ways to make friends. Besides going to class, people with common interests participated in sports, clubs, and other activities so that they could have fun as well as build lasting friendships. Others formed their own little cliques in order to gain special identity.

Clubs and organizations promoted the welfare of VHS and served the community in various ways. Standards were high, as most clubs used the point system to distinguish the ac tive members from the inactive ones. Some clubs such as Student Council Anchor, Key, Art, HERO, and HOSA helped the unfortunate and raised money fo charities. Students wishing to broaden their horizons joined VAC, Science, AFS, Math German, French, and FHA FFA, ICT, DE, VOE, JFTA, and VICA clubs introduced members to the job marke and their place in it. NHS Quill and Scroll, and Thes pians were honor clubs which denoted some high achievers. Organization: which displayed talents whilentertaining others include choir, band, orchestra break in classes for all. One could either go home, eat in the cafeteria under teacher's supervision, or go out to Mr. Gatti's or Burger King for a quick bite to eat. Many preferred the latter idea if one had access to a car or ride. Eating out was expensive because it would cost up to $3.50 per meal for a hamburger, coke and fries. Some studious people stayed in for physics, chemistry, or calculus test later that day.

Beyond the doors of school, teenagers found plenty to do. Some worked half a day and could manage to get in 30 hours a week and still pass school. Many found enjoyment at parties

Personalities add sparkle

Special interests and skills of students such as Laurie Merrill's, Angelle Allemand's and Stacy Walker's provide entertainment for others.

C lasses contained a variety of in-dividuals who formed a vibrant student body. Just like a snowflake, each separate person was different from any other student; however, these people mingled with others and made Victoria High a school --- with many unique areas of interest Almost every student was provided with at least one subject which appealed to him, whether it was science, math, social studies or any number of electives. These students worked diligently on school work, club activities, sports, performance and many other school sponsored events.

Work was not the only thing school supplied; many good times and lasting friendships resulted from the influence of school. With all the activities which occurred at the school and all the interesting people who filled the classrooms, it was easy to detect the school's sparkle.

$85,740 big ones for the winners

During the annual Awards Assembly, more than $85,740.00 in awards and scholarships were given to over 150 hard working students who excelled in school and its related activities. The master of ceremonies was Student Council President Kim Anderson.

Various representatives from colleges, local businesses, scholarship funds, and VHS Clubs and organizations gave the chosen recipients their awards.

Mr. B. F. Erskine, principal, presented certificates to magna cum laude and cum laude graduates. He also recognized the valedictorian, Susan Tsujimoto (GP 100.64) and salutatorian Teresa Villafrar ca (GPA 100.19). All recipients, the parents, and the student body, minus the freshmen, attended the hour and fortifive minute ceremony.

Foreign exchange students Ahmed Sh'haltoug (Jordan), Ilona Joensuu (Finland), and Hava Frumkin (Israel) receive a Stingaree jacket at the end of the ceremony.

Receiving the Bill Pugh Scholarship from Mr. Hutson are Susan Tsujimoto and Teresa Villafranca

Mrs. Bauer of the Victoria Music Club congratulates David Carbajal for being chosen for the $150 scholarship.

Tracy Harris is the recipient of the $400 scholarship presented by Mr. Zuniga from the Coastal Bend Sub Section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

These jackets are surely a sign of pride Many years of hard work and dedication attribute to the honor of receiving a letter jacket. The jackets are hard to come by and are not awarded to just anyone Many clubs pay for the members' jackets which cost $45 to $60 dollars

Often, the athletes and club members receive medals, pins, and patches for outstanding accomplishments as members of these organizations. ### Games seniors play

O ne of the privileges of having Free Enterprise as a senior is playing "Monopoly" and You're the Banker." Although many students think otherwise, these days set aside are for learning what working in the business world is all about You're the Banker" is a board game in which the players act as if they are the committee of a large bank. Many people of the community go to the committee for loans and special transactions it is up to the students to decide if these people are worthy of receiving the loans that they desperately need. Finally at the end of the game, the players are told which members of the community are able to pay their debts. The group of people who act as a bank with the most money at the end of the game is the winner

Playing "Monopoly" is a different situation Senior students compete against others to receive the most amount of money and assets This game is also played on a board but it deals mainly with the buying and selling of property and houses, paying rent to owners of these pieces of property and houses, and even going to jail

Monopoly keeps Shad Hardin worried about finances, while Kim Kucera, Lynne Lowder, and Missey Saenz wonder what they can buy next

E veryone eagerly awaits their senior year It is a magical year that is filled with privileges only for seniors. One of these privileges is to be permitted to sign up for Home and Family Living class From the time a student enters as a freshman, he hears of the activities in this unique class. When the time for registration for the senior year arrives, the majority of students are most excited about this class taught by Mrs. Ann Oyen

The main event that takes place in Home and Family Living is, of course, the wedding. Since the class only lasts one semester, the wedding is held at the end of each semester. A preacher, bride groom, bridesmaids, groosmen, and even and mother and father of the bride and groom are selected. The week before the wedding, various types of reports are given by the students in the class. Some of the topics of the report include: The Cost of a Honeymoon, The Cost of a Wedding, The Cost of Buying a House, and even The Cost of a Divorce. These reports are to help people realize what is involved in getting married. When the day of the wedding arrives, everyone is dressed in their best clothes and an actual ceremony is performed

At the closing of the ceremony, the wedding party is moved to the Homemaking Cottage and a reception takes place Someone from the class brings a cake sandwiches, and drinks to make the entire wedding complete

Graduation has mixed emotions

A s graduation hight approaches every senior experiences mixed emotions. It is difficult to realize that the end of one's high school career is finally coming to an end. Everyone is happy, but also a little sad Some seniors will go on to college, some will get married, and some will go on to work. After receiving the diploma, a new life begins for each and every graduate. Responsibilities must be faced and accepted. Hopefully, the social and academic experiences of high school will help everyone to handle adult responsibilities in the best way possible

Each year, special awards are presented to an outstanding senior boy and girl. The awards are based on athletic, academic and leadership qualities. The recipient of the Billy Traylor Award was Dean DeAtley and Laurie Merrill received the Majorie Vickers Award

Postgraduation plans

After twelve years of hard work, Victoria High School graduates ask themselves, "What's next?" For many, the answer is entering college to further their education. Others choose to go directly into the job market and still others plan to join the armed forces. Here at VHS, 71% plan to continue their education; 13% do not plan to further their education and the remaining 16% are undecided

The four most popular colleges that graduates show an interest in attending are the local Victora College, San Marcos-based Southwest Texas State University, University of Texas at Austin, and Texas A&M in College Station. Many students are fortunate enough to be able to go to college on a scholarship, which is a great financial help. Scholarships are also very rewarding to those who receive them. Others must work their way through college on their own or their parents pay their way through for them

Those students who are going directly into the job market usually find work in a sales department, in vocational trades, or any other available full-time job

Armed services available for graduates to enlist in include the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marines.

Regardless of what his choice is, each student is responsible for the outcome of his future

Senior parties are a blast

Being a senior is a time of togetherness and happiness and a time to celebrate the effort we have put into our school days. As graduation approaches, seniors eagerly await the day when they will receive their diploma. They want to have fun with their friends before the year is over and they must begin taking on some serious responsibilities of their own

One of the most popular ways high school seniors have of celebrating their graduation is hosting senior parties. These parties may be hosted by the students themselves (maybe with a group of close friends), by the graduate's parents, relatives, or friends of the family. Regardless of how the parties are hosted, they are sure to be a lot of fun and will hold many special memories for the seniors who are a part of them.

Ending up the senior festivities is the graduation dance honoring seniors who want to be a part of it. It is sponsored by the parents of these seniors. This year the dance was held at the Community Center and music was provided by the Drifters.

Mr. Lynn Wildman soothes a nervous Jeff Simpson with a "size check" of his senior ring

Rings give status

One of the most exciting experiences in our lives is becoming a senior. There is not doubt that everyone antic pates the beginning of his senior year. The anticipation first begins when the juniors order their senior rings. Although it is a senior ring, most juniors can't wait for theirs to come in. Probably for two simple reasons. First, they want to show them off to their friends and family. Second, it makes them realize that they are almost there. They've almost made it to one of the most important days of their lives, graduation

Since the seniors and juniors both have on senior rings, there's a tradition so that one can spot who's a senior and who's a junior. The seniors wear their rings so that Victoria High is readable to others, as for the juniors the Victoria High faces in so that it is readable only to themselves. Then after the seniors graduate and only after, the juniors switch the rings around. That is when they become full fledged seniors.

Juniors had a vanety of companies to buy rings from such as Balfour, Zales, Kays and Bill Barnes. Phil Hubenak seems to be having a lot of trouble deciding which ring he wants to buy from Balfour

Mr. Lynn Wildman is happy to give JoAnn Mowels her class ring to add to her collecture.

The class of 1984 has a ways had spirit but this year they have shown what they re-really made of. At every school event you can always find juniors there cheering our school on to victory. They also make banners at poster parties, and have T-shirts made with the class logo saying "SRS 84" on them. One can tell they are excited and proud of their class.

These juniors are one of a kind. The key word is loyalty. They are loyal and devoted to our school not because they have to, but because they want to

Toward the end of the year, the juniors settle down and start studying hard so that next year they can proudly proclaim "We are seniors of 1984"

to your health?

uring one's sophomore year, there are more than half of the students turning sixteen willing and anxious to receive their license and drive. Most of the sophomores are ready to get out and start going places, being able not to worry if they need a ride or not. This is a year where they start getting involved with more activities and therefore need more transportation

Drivers education teachers are trying their hardest to assure kids that driving is not just a game, but that you're taking on a full responsibility once you sit behind a steering wheel

At the beginning of the course one becomes familiar with the surroundings, being able to cope with all the tests and handling the responsibilities of driving. This is one of the hardest steps provided throughout the program

Attitude among the students is dealt very seriously among the teachers. For the students to know and understand all the right procedures is a very important task for one to achieve

A t Victoria High School, there are several activities that require full-time dedication. To make a commitment to put in extra time is sometines a tough decision to make. Among these activities are the Victoriadores.

As everyone knows, if one plans to succeed in life, one has to be dedicated. The Victoriadores have done this because their nickname. "The Pride of the Southwest," reveas their many extra hours that are put in outside of school.

All 18 sophomores out of the 62 members of the squad knows what hard work is — to learn and work your har dest through tryouts in order to perform at the games. These first year "rookies" have worked through one year of Reserves to qualify for Victoriadores.

The sophomores feel that all the hard work and long nights of practicing that Victoriadores require is great experience. Their favorite part of the omine is a turned was meeting new people during camp. Feeling as though they are all one as a family, the Victoriadores have dead with many personal and group struggles, while always providing an unbelievable show at their functions.

Neighbors, close friends help move freshmen

F inding a ride to and from school can become a problem for many freshmen. While upper classmen are zooming by in their new cars, freshmen are trying to find a reliable ride each day First there is the "lucky fish" who has an older brother or sister who drives to school. Some may even have a friendly neighbor or a close friend who drives. If one does not live too far away, it may be convenient for him to walk to school, if the weather is permissible. If not, it is wise to have another ride in mind. Then there is always mom or dad who can give you a lift on their way to work. Even though this may not be the most popular way, it is better than walking. The not so lucky one may have to ride the bus. Many freshmen may not like to ride the bus to school; however, it is a sure, safe ride each day. It is also a good way to meet new friends. Besides, you never have to worry about someone turning around and saying "Hey, who's pitching in for gas?"

Students are wondering if getting on bus 40 is even worth the trouble anymore

Freshmen contribute by involvement

The goal of becoming someone remembered in V.H.S. history belongs to almost every freshman. Joining reserves, freshman sports, drama, choir, band, and many clubs is the best way for these freshmen to start reaching towards their destinies. Reserves support the Stingarettes by cheering at games, learning dances to perform, making spirit posters, and decorating lockers. This takes a lot of devoted hard work and consuming time. Freshmen Sports also contain many hard hours of time, but these hours are spent working out and training for perfection. They want to be the best in their categories. Learning plays, skits, and basically the way to act is the drama department. Contests are held to gain points for the school and recognition for the individual. As in drama, choir and band also attend many contests to score points and attain recognition for Victoria High. Last but certainly not least, the clubs of V.H.S. take stand. Selling items and raising money for various groups and organizations takes away a lot of otherwise "free time." So as one can so easily see, freshmen have to work hard from the beginning to get their status in the book of memories of V.H.S.

Discovering life's brilliance

to graduate term the Candleught pep rady

S tudent life stretched beyond the classroom and on into after school hours. Being active in competitive contests, hilarious plays and uptifting musicals revealed many people's hidden talents. Attending the school dances that were sponsored by various groups to promote funding required a date, a new dress, a corsage or boutenierre, and, perhaps a photograph to be taken. If people weren't busy going to parties, dances, bowling alleys or to the movies, some spent a quiet night at home watching television, reading a good book, or being with their family.

"Munching out" and "cruising the town" were favorite expressions associated with high school. No matter what, students discovered that life's brill ance had much to offer.

Crazies create comedy

What does a teddy bear a family fortune, and an asylum have in common? They are the three key ingredients including the entire cast and production staff that made the fall play, "The Curious Savage" a great hit on December 13-14

The comedy is based on Ethe Savage (Yolanda Zepeda) who turned $75,000,000 of the family fortune into bonds and hid them. Her three greedy children, (Rudy Klecka, Robert Williams, and Donna Oertii) commit her to an asylum called The Cloisters. There its zany occupants, (Cathie Bush, Jill Konarik, Randy Holloway Todd Cobb, and Nikki LaGrega) think that everyone is crazy except themselves. The staff (Rory Cobb and Carolina McAlister) tries to keep the home as peaceful as possible

This was the first time that a VHS play has been handled by student directors. Cathie Derrickson and Kim Conway under the supervision of Ms Denise Dick worked for five weeks with over 90 hard-working students to perfect the show which included set makeup, sound, lighting, costume props, and publicity

Festive week accents on dress code

The excitement of Homecoming Week could be seen in everyone's eyes as the guys asked their favorite girl two weeks in advance to the Homecoming Dance

The week started off on an unofficial note with Monday being unofficial "tack out" day. Tuesday was "punk rock/valley girl" day which was followed by "twin day on Wednesday. Student Council designated Thursday as "caumouftage day and Friday, of course, was "red and white" day. All week teachers and administrators were looking out for violators of the school dress code Most of them happened to be seniors. Thursday night a special candlelight pep rally was held at the stadium with balloons, toilet paper streamers, and entertainment by the Jazz Band and Victoriadore Friday night the mighty, fightin Stingarees trampled Angleton 10 to 7

The Student Council's hard work proved successful on Saturday, October 18 1982, as the many people in great spirit enjoyed the "jungle" decorations refreshments, and music by Hargiss at the Homecoming Dance

The eyes (and ears) have it!

Number one hits in the entertainment world

Motion picture and recording industries were thriving and diverse businesses in 1982-83. New, exciting concepts in the entertainment world were formed Technology and quality provided scrutinizing fans with superior entertainment. Major movies boasted excellent photography and sound, while television sets were constantly being improved, and home and car sound systems were extremely common and sophisticated

Salem Six and the Playhouse showed movies with varying storylines. Popular movies appealed to a large audience because of the changing subject matter which included science-fiction, comedy romance, drama, thrillers, and special effects

E.T. — THE EXTRA TERRESTRIAL was a landslide in popularity. E.T. was a touching story of an unusual alien who gets stranded on Earth and is befriended by a young boy. Who will ever forget E.T.'s cries of "E.T. go home"?

Steven Spellburg's captivating POLTERGEIST was a chilling and ironically humorous tale of ghosts and goblins. The frightening special effects kept viewers on the edge of their seats!

A continuing sequel film, ROCKY III, was a fast paced film of an aging boxer (Rocky Balboa played by Sylvestor Stallone) trying to retain his title in one last match Balboa's determination and "eye of the tiger" provided excitement and glory!

A tale with two story lines was an OF-FICER AND A GENTLEMAN. The plot provided a love story between Richard Gere and Debra Winger, and a man's struggle to prove himself. The story took place in a training camp of the navy

Believable? No. Funny? Definitely, TOOTSIE was an off the wall comedy about an actor (Dustin Hoffman) who couldn't get acting roles as a man so he dressed up like a woman and got the lead on a top soap Meanwhile, he falls in love with a woman on the soap, and many hitarious complications arise

FAST TIMES AT RIDGEMONT HIGH produced some unconventional activities of high school students. Crazy antics frequented the show. The picture was supposedly a true account of high school life VHS students acquired the phrase "Hey bud, let's party" from the movie

E.T. and Drew Barrymore capture the hearts of millions of movie-goers in the touching box office hit. E.T." (Wide World Photos Inc.)

TELEVISION

Television opened a new door for viewers. T.V. watchers were able to choose from network, educational and cable stations, Networks produced popular shows such as Square Pegs, Fame, Dallas, Dynasty, All My Children, Magnum P.L., Hill St. Blues, M*A*S*H and mini series such as Shogun and the Winds of War. Educational T.V. provided classic dramas such as The Scarlet Letter, and informational series like Nova Cable T.V. allowed viewers special coverage of events and movies such as sports on ESPN and concerts and movies on HBO

MUSIC

Music fans enjoyed rock, ballads, punk new wave and country tunes. A new fad in music was video recordings of pop songs such as HBO's Video Jukebo. The following albums and singles wre popular among VHS students: albums; Allentown—Billy Joel, American Fool—John Cougar, Asia—Asia, Business as Usual—Men at Work. The Distance—Bob Seger and the Silver Bullet Band, Diver Down—Van Halen, Emotions in Motion—Billy Squier, Get Nervous—Pat

Apart from the crowd:

Be yourse f! This was the trademark of fashion during the school year. Styles varied according to personal ties and moods, unique attire budded from a combination of training and individual creations, while passing and lingering fads provided an array of dressing patterns.

The male population at Victoria High School was very fashion oriented throughout the year. Many styles stemmed from punk rock and new wave. Concert t-shirts, punk rock glasses, black and white checkered shoes, and logo buttons started a new craze. To add to this look, guys sported hair cuts which were sheared at the crown, leaving longer thin tails at the back of the neck.

The studious and casual "Prep" was another favorite of students. Comfortable knit and button down Ralph Lauren Polos khakis jeans, and deck shoes cast a sporty look. At the same time, scores of accessories such as glasses, watches and belts produced a coordinated look.

Images of the beach created wild, tropical clothing. Loud Hawaiian shirts and bright bandanas arrived at the scene of rowdy pep railies. Many students owned beach t shirts from

Unique styles to fit individual personalities

cean Pacific, Ocean Breeze, or Pat Magees, the long sleeve surfing shirt was particularly in vogue

Guys were not afraid to look nice, they took pride in their appearance. Sport coats, button downs, knakis, corduroys and a neat co-ffure definitely revealed style and good taste.

Other trends included the following items boots camouflage, woven belts loafers, knit ties and aviator jackets

Fashion permitted a dressing freedom for gir's at Victoria High. Girls were able to build wardrobes from casual, sporty, soph sticated feminine, or crazy looks. These choices allowed students to please their own individual preferences.

The "Valley Girl" initiated a bolder, more daring look. Colorful mini skirts, it ghts, ruffles, and, of course leg warmers represented the look of a true Valley Girl.

Girls, as well as guys, enjoyed wearing "Prep" outfits Carefully matched clothes, colors, and accessories exposed a true fashion expert. Polos, skirts, jeans, socks, belts, purses shoes, ribbons and jewelery provided a challenge for Victoria High fashion coordinators.

Ladies were not apprehensive when it came to girlish styles

The top story of the year was the U S economy. Unemployment climbed to 10.8 per cent in November, interest rates dropped about 5 per cent and inflation was kept at 6 per cent. The stock market hit good highs in October and February giving new hope to investors

Extra Strength Tylenol made the news in October. Laced with cyanide, seven people died in Chicago. The maker Johnson and Johnson, spent $100 million recalling the medicine white detectives determined that the poisoning happened locally and not during the manufacturing or distribution process. The culprits were caught about three months later, but only after other copycats tampered with mouthwash, aspirin, and eye drops. No one trusted Halloween. By January

ways. Petitioners bearing 3,800 signatures called for an April 2 election to imit VISD spending to no more than an 8 per cent increase per year. The proposed ax limitation was defeated with no more than 450 votes. All year long taxpayers plocked a 42 per cent pay raise for County Judge Norman Jones and County ourt-at-Law Judge Jerry Garrett. Finally in September, Jones said that the county ax rate would not increase the cuts in the budget would result

Some things never change

Tradition — the ideas and values that remain with our school since the day of its beginning Many examples included the song, colors, mascot, and the school's principles of a solid education.

The school system dates back to the 1800's when Victoria's private institutions such as the Catholic. German, and Lutheran churches educated the pupils whose parents could afford private tuition. Then in 1916 the late John J. Welder deeded ten acres of land to the community for a public high school on one condition; if it would be named in memory of his daughter Patti Welder. He got his wish and Victoria got their first public high school. In 1918 100 students in all four grade levels attended the first year. The required courses included math, English, Latin, science, and history with bookkeeping as the only elective available.

With the need for more room, the VISD spent $85,000 to build and equip as Victoria High School while Patti Welder became a junior high school. The doors were opened in 1958 after midterm to resume classes for 800 students in grades tenth through twelfth. The campus was made up of the old building, industrial arts and agricultural buildings, cafeteria, and the gym. In 1964 the ninth grade and the new building were added to the campus. Later the Learning Resource Center and Memorial Stadium were built

Since the general spirit was on the downfall last year. VHS got a taste of a new tradition that developed "when the cheerleaders went to camp during the summer to look for new ideas to boost spirit," said Mrs. Shurtz They decided to choose a very spirited male senior who would not mind downing a red satin cape, boxing shorts, black tights and a shirt to be known as "Super Sting." In on-week they found the right student, Troy Johnson, who was presented at the first pep raily of the year. This idea of a spirit leader will continue as a tradition that eager senior guys will look forward to

When VHS opened its doors, all students were careful not to step on the Stingaree laid in red, white and black tile that came with them from Patti Welder, because they were proud of it. If an underclassman did, he had to scrub the entire Stingaree with a toothbrush while the seniors supervised him. With the addition of ninth grade, the half became crowded which made it impossible to avoid the mascot. Since it has been roped off, the Stingaree has been used to display various projects and awards the student body have acquired

The cherished words of the Alma Mater is displayed proudly on the gym wall for all to see

fetor a High School which was photographed by Steven Larier and Deandeade is a sight to see at night

The school colors have not always been red and white. At Patti Welder the colors were orange and black when in 1958 they changed to red and white. These colors promote the life and identity that holds VHS together

The origin of the alma mater which hangs in the gym began in fall of 1957, Instead of changing the school's name in the old song, Betty Whitis, Judy Shields, and Barbara Witherspoon wrote a new song and Fred Junkin set its music. Through the years the singing of the school song at athletic events and pep rallies became a tradition that preserves the closeness of all future and past graduates of VHS

Personality and effort inspires active students to excel in club activities!

Preferred activities promote excellence

Drummer Kevin Harrison will do anything for a ittle attention

Clubs provided students with laughter, friends and knowledge: however, hard work, dedication and talent were also aspects of being an active club member. Every second Wednesday of each month, most clubs convened during "activity period" to take care of club business. Many clubs met during regular class periods as well as before and after school, while other clubs scheduled meetings during members' spare time. A variety of activities were performed by clubs Community services, care for the elderly and needy and campus beautification were only a minute part of club projects. Participation in clubs helped students to learn to interact with others, develop skills and build wonderful memories of high school. Club members out forth an admirable effort in fund raising and services in order to produce positive things for themselves and others. In everything they did, devoted club members definitely revealed excellence

Getting a taste of leadership

the Victoria High School Student Council has had one of its greatest years ever. At the Texas Association of Student Councils state convention in Austin at the end of the year, the council ran for state vice-president school and won a super victory to hold, during the upcoming year, their first state office in the last twenty years

A great variety of successful projects earned the Student Council the state award of Outstanding Student Council for the eighth time. The council hosted the District XI Fall Convention in October. They also sponsored a truly memorable Homecoming Dance, which featured a jungle theme and the music of CHASE

Another successful Christmas wrapping booth in Victoria Mall during December kept the council's books balanced. Some projects included sponsoring Camouflage Day and several assemblies, delivering cards and chocolate kisses on Christmas and Valentine's Day, raising money for families at Thanksgiving and Christmas, and various projects for students, teachers, and the community during the year

n the first Thursday of every month during fifth period, the National Junior Honor Society met in the Sting Room. NJHS is a very exclusive club available only to freshmen and sophomores with a 90 or better grade average. They must uphold this grade throughout the school year. Each member is picked on the qualities of scholarship, leadership, citizenship, service, and character

This year NJHS had a total of 92 members, and on March 3 at Victoria Bank and Trust six new members were initiated

At the poetry workshop, Lisa Lewis, Yolanda Zepeda Robert Williams, and Scott Duke learn that one doesn't have to be crazy to write good poetry

Susan Armstrong, editor John Pettway, and Connie Rogers finally agree on one thing — to include that poem only if they can put their names on it

Striving for quality

I ven though the IMPACT was not published, the staff gained valuable experience of editing, critiquing, and typing the limited selections of poetry, essays, and short stories After attending a literary magazine camp at Trinity University last summer, editor John Pettway, Jimmy Martinez, Connie Rogers, and Mrs. Neece returned with new ideas for a better magazine. These included a stronger campaign for good entries, a different selecting system, and a more efficient staff With the addition of Susan Armstrong, Scott Duke, Eileen Stewart, and Yolanda Zepeda, the entire staff chose about fifty pieces out of 120 entries. The pieces are given to the staff without the author's name to be judged on a scale of 1-5 with five as the highest. While judging the selections, the staff would proofread and comment on them. After the votes are tallied, the entries with the highest scores are selected for print with Mrs. Neece's approval. The '83 IMPACT was not published due to lack of quality material. The selected material this past year will be published in next year's magazine

On December 8, forty-five aspiring poets from VHS, Stroman, and St. Joseph were invited for a creative writing workshop led by Naomi Nye, a free lance writer from San Antonio She stressed that reading and listening can open up new ideas for writing She said, "The trend in poetry now is to get directly to the point. Vagueness, generalization, moralizing, triteness, and forced rhyming are frowned upon by editros today."

It takes Connie Rogers, Scoot Duke, John Pettway, and other staff members tw weeks to type all of the selected entries

Elegant yet classy

he origin of the 1983 Stamgaree's cover design was the combination of six people's efforts Said Connie Rogers, "During summer camp at A&M, we (Rhonda) Kickendahl, Donna Andres, and Joy Dunglinson) thought of getting the whole Senior class together in formals and tuxes in front of the school with Mr. and Miss VHS getting out of a Rolls Royce. We won first place on that idea, but we knew it would be very difficult to pull it off." Joy Dunglinson added, "Since we were limited on time and money, Mr. Burrow suggested that we could actually build the cover. So Connie, Mr. Burrow, and I decided on the style of letters that Marcus Salas had drawn up and then added the ideas of jewelry and a rose to give it a sophisticated and classy look." Mark Martin cut the letters out of pine wood and painted them with twenty coats of mint silver epoxy enamel paint to make them appear very glossy. Then in mid March, Gene Sutphen of Visual Impact photographed the image with the jewelry loaned from Tom Barnes of Bill Barnes Jewelry on black plexyglass with red lighting. The finished product will long be rememberd by the class of '83 and its underclassmen.

982-83 was a busy year for the Victoriadores. The year began during the summer when they attended morning practices for two weeks to prepare for camp Memberships for the Victoriadore Booster Club were sold to businesses before school began

This was a special year for the officers, as they were selected to dance at the Aloha Bowl in Honolulu, Hawaii. Various fund raising projects were held to help finance the trip

Each year, the Pride of the Southwest attends the Miss Texas Drill Team Pageant in Dallas Many hours of hard work and practice are required to perfect each jazz, highkick, and prop dance that is performed in the competition. As a group, they attend camps during the summer at Sam Houston State University and Southwest Texas State University where they brought home numerous awards and competed against other, best, squads for top awards. The squad brought home the Award of Excellence. Also, Angele Alemand was chosen All American Cheerleader by the National Cheerleading Association.

At SWTS in they won blue ribbons everyinght and brought home two spirit sticks. They competed in the finals and were given a trophy as one of the runners up in the finals.

By winning the Award of Excellence, they were invited to compete at the National Cheerleaders, Championship in Dallas. eing a photographer is a rare state of existence. From that registrition day when they sign up for journalism, one realizes what one's destiny will be. The first characteristic of a true photog is being half-crazy. The tendency to be nocturnal falls right behind. The average photog gets approximately 4 to 6 hours of sleep per night since they are constantly in the darkroom.

Julike most students who wear from $20 to $200 of their wardrobe to school daily, the average photog wears between $400 and $2000 worth ... most of it consisting of expensive cameras and flashes units

Photogs also reek of many olfactory enemies. They are always playing chemist with such solutions as Indicator Stop Bath, D-76, Daktol Hypo and others. These, in turn, contribute to the production of some exceptional photographs and manage to eat their way through many OP shirts each year.

Between work and school, photogs are always on the run. They are constantly photographing clubs, sports, dances, and other school related activities. Students not only had an opportunity to win awards for the work they did, but they gained valuable experience in preparing for professions in law business, and education

An invitational speech tournament was held in the fall at VHS. The members traditionally put the tournament together rather than compete in it. hespians worked hard throughout the year to bring fun and entertainment to the faculty and student body

To be a thespian one is required to have been in at least two school plays and have earned 10 points. This is done by working on shows and tournaments

Football programs and gift items were sold to help raise money for the Thespians. Nikki LaGrega was named the year's top sales person

Once again, their hard work and extreme talent shone through in "The Curious Savage

After the physical training was completed, successful competitors also had to achieve a certain frame of mind which demanded menta stamina

Athletes at Victoria High worked extremely hard to show the effort and sincerity of the mighty Stings With the numerous amount of awards and titles won at VHS, it was not difficult to see the devotion and drive of the athletes. The Stings lost their season opener against Austin Reagan with a 21-0 defeat. Even though it wasn't a winning debut for Coach Weddell, the team showed a lot of promise. That promise came out the next weekend when the RED RAGE overcame a 13 point deficit to beat the Alice Coyotes, 14-13. The next game against the Angleton Wildcats was a very important one to Coach Weddell and his team. The Wildcats were last years District 25-5A winners, but after VHS beat them 10-7, they missed their chance to keep the title. Next week the Stings lost their first game since the season opener against the Brazoswood Buccaneers by a score of 14-6. Outstanding results came from the Junior varsity team of 1982-83 as they ended up their season with an outstanding 7-3-0 record. The j.v. is made up of juniors and sophomores with intentions of playing on the varsity team the following year Every day during first period and after school, the team sweated through practices in order to build up their playing abilities, which is what helped them obtain their excellent record. The junior varsity team plays an extremely important role, as this is the final stepping stone for reaching the varsity.

Winning records are not the most important things to consider, as the sophomores ended up with a 2.7-0 finish. Even though they did not have a winning season, they showed promise through hard work and determination. In these early years before going on to varsity, it is not the scores that count as much as the ability. The purpose of the sub teams is to give the players a chance to progress through experience

The way it all begins

Football players entering their freshman year at Victoria High ire separated into two teams, the freshmen red and the reshmen white. The freshmen red team ended their season ith a 4-6-0 record, and the freshmen white ended their season ith a 6-3-0 record. The teams are a combination of freshmen from all of the intermediate schools. In the past, they were playing against each other, and when they entered high school, they became a single unit. This is the first step to reaching the final goal—the varsity team

Girls' basketball shoots to state

hroughout the year of 1982 83 many may have heard the name, Victoria Stingarettes, mentioned in several newspaper articles, or seen them on television. Which ever this may be, it is all due to hard work and dedication. Coaches, athletes and the managers make the complete Stingarette team. The Stingarettes practiced long hours which started the first day of school with fourth period drills and conditioning When October fifteenth rolled around, it was time for after school workouts to begin. The varsity practiced from eleven forty-five to around twelve forty-five during the season and five o'clock through seven o'clock after school. There was seldom a day of practice off for they go on during the Christmas holidays until that final game

On January 17, the Victoria Stingarettes handed coach Jan Lahodney her 350 career victory with a 71-23 district win over a completely outclassed Lamar Consolidated team. It took less than four minutes for Victoria to take the lead for keeps

On February 1, the Stingarettes clinched a spot in the post season playoffs with a 63-57 win over Angleton, their 23 consecutive victory. They sat 11-0 in district and were still able to make playoffs even by losing three games

Against the Dulles Viks on February 8, Victoria handed them a 65-43 loss in district 25-5A girl's basketball action

The win kept Victoria unbeaten in district play at 13-0 and moved them to 29-1 on the season. The Stingarettes tallied their 25th consecutive victory and 39th win in a row at home. Which also led for the nine Senior Stingarette's last home game

Thanks to the devotion and talent of the girls on the team and of Coach Jan Lahodny, the Victoria Stingarettes excelled to great heights. Their desire to be a quality team made them one of the best high school basketball teams in the state

The Stingarettes pushed their way easily to the state game against Houston Yates — a team who VHS had beat times before. However, the girls were upset by a devastating 2 points; the score was 56-58. # An outstanding record oys cross country team ended their 1982-83 season with an outstanding record. For the second year in a row, they placed in the top ten at the state meet. Beginning in August and continuing throughout the first two months of school, the cross country team puts in many hours of practice. They begin in the morning at 6 00 am and then practice again after school. The meets are held on Saturdays, and each team member runs a three mile course. They ended up placing fifth in this year's state meet, which moved them up from last year's seventh place finish. They also won first place in District 25-AAAAA

Varsity and JV win district

irl cross country runners at Victoria High did a fabulous job in the 1982-83 season. Both the varsity and junior varsity teams won District titles. To become a member of the cross country team, a girl must possess a willingness to work hard and a lot of endurance. The girls began practicing at the beginning of the school year. They ran between three and four miles in the morning, and during fourth period, they ran around two miles and worked on the weights. At the meets, the course is normally two and one half miles long. They attended meets for the first two months of school, and then the season was over for them with a lot of reward for all of their hard work

First year at VHS

his year was the first year for Coach Manuel Baca to coach the VHS tennis teams. He had a very good training program which included running and lifting weights. This training helped reduce the freshman team down to only the individuals who were willing to work hard and who wanted to achieve a high goal. This goal was to earn their place on the team.

This year we have a new tennis coach who came to us from Estacado High School in Lubbock, Texas

Keith Mickan, Lawrence Tinsley, Roger Barrera, Jennifer Martinak, Mary El-Mammanhoudi, Chyra Blackaller, Coach Baca, Allen Dworsky, Todd Cobb, Shannon Boen, Tom Woody Ilona Joensuu, Jackie Butler and Karen Graves are known as the Freshman team

Although they only played in one tournament, they worked hard throughout the year so that when they reach their place on the varsity team, they will be ready for the challenges that await them. Like freshman team, team members were on the exercise program. Even though Coach Baca demanded a little more achievement, the exercises were similar

Nancy Jenkins won in the consolation bracket at Austin, reached the semi-finals in Galveston and Bryan, won the girls singles finals in Corpus Christi, and placed third in district

Juan C Rodriguez has completed his first year as assistant principal at Victoria High School. He is in charge of the discipline of boys and UIL. Before coming to Victoria, Mr. Rodriguez was a counselor at San Antonio's Edison High.

Mr. Rodrigeuz says he really enjoys Victoria and he believes the people are very friendly. He likes Victoria High and says the students are very nice and pleasant to be around. He believes that Victoria and Victoria High will be a very rewarding experience for him

In his spare time, he does a variety of activities. He likes to jog, read, to watch and play sports, and tries to attend most of the student activities

Mr. Rodriguez said, "Most of the discipline problems involve less that 15% of the student body, thus the majority of the students are great and enjoyable to be around Most of the students take great pride in their school and make it an enjoyable place to work in

Helping students is a part of Mary Orzbal's job

S pec al Assignment Class is a place well known to some students at VHS. The name is known to all. For a violation of policies, rules or regulations, principals may assign students to Special Assignment Class (SAC) for a time which the principal believes appropriate

Mr. George A. King, Jr. and Mrs. Mary Orzbal are in charge of the class. A student must do assignments from his regular teachers and have them completed upon return to school. SAC meets at Gross School. Persons assigned to SAC are transported from their respective campuses to Gross School by way of a yellow school bus. They are not allowed to use their own transportation and must each

lunch on the Gross campus

On the fourth assignement to SAC, a student may face expulsion from school and a loss of all credits

Students often depend on Mr. George King to solve problems for them

Swarms of colored balloons are let loose before a football game

7 11 supplies students such as David Burnet and Ding Hill Jethn with a convenient stock of the less ties, such as gum and magazines.

Contributing to special causes produces valuable treasures.

Assistance enriches life's fortunes

Priceless blood is donated by John Gonzales so needy people can have the gift of life

A dvertising sales enabled businesses and organizations to sell a product at a low or discounted. rate. Many different forms of advertisements were available. For instance, television networks ran commercials for international businesses in order to offer free television to viewers. The cost to produce these tiv, programs was very high, however, advertisers such as Coke, General Motors and BM absorbed the bulk of the costs Similarly, newspapers sold for about a quarter, whereas the production costs were much greater. The VIC-TORIAN which was distributed to students at no charge, was subsidized by patrons such as Burger King and the Drifters because these ads appealed to readers, thus advertisers hoped to increase business

Stingaree annuals were available at below cost prices because of the support of its advertisers. Thanks to the financial assistance of these people, more students were enriched with one of life's small fortunes—the 1983 STINGAREE

Editor's Note

TIF NALLY GOT TO PRESS! As long as it took the staff to make sure that every name was spelled correctly, every picture was cropped, and every quad-pak was double checked the final product was well worth the trouble Overseeing the 1983 Stingaree's creation was an experience I will never forget. I eventually got used to staying after school until 4.30 or 5.00 just to make sure everything was running smoothly. Thanks to my advisor Mr. Burrow who believed enough in me to take on the responsibilities stress and leadership as an editor. His pepitalks really got us going. A special thanks goes to my good friend and managing editor. Joy Dung inson who always looked on the bright side of things when times were tough. Also, I am very proud to have Tracy Bukkemper. Debbie Terry. Sean Wray and Steven Lanier on the staff. They volunteered their time to help me pick up the pieces that others left behind after the year was over.

"A Touch of Class" — that's what VHS people have and this yearbook captures it for us to treasure. There will never be another annual like this one because the 1983 Stingaree happens only once in a life time.

Sincerely,

Connie Rogers
Executive Editor

Exemption, tardy and absentee rules changed. To be exempt from exams depended on the number of absences, tardies, and the conduct grade. Special Assignment Class (SAC) was visited by some who had severe violations.

The drug dog policy was altered somewhat to protect the student's private rights. Instead of searching the individuals, the dogs were only allowed to search the school property consisting of lockers, desks, restrooms and parking lots.

During the year, everyone worked to acquire the routine while "Super Sting" encouraged the Stings to get involved and yell. In addition, victory oriented skits were performed by the imaginative student council. Finally, the school song was sung before and after each half-hour pep rally. These pep rallies were a great display of pride, but there were other ways of expressing loyalty such as representing the school in contests, conventions and service groups and by wearing a senior jacket or ring. Many fads passed through the doors of VHS, some formed the basis of new ideas, and some linger in the minds of the students who helped create them.

As the year progressed, prospective graduates turned their thoughts to dorms and colleges and money and jobs instead of constant partygoing. In graduating from high school, a phase of life had ended, but a new exciting phase of adult life had begun. Adulthood abandons many wonderful aspects of growing up, but it can never take away the memories.

As the summer ended and the underclassmen went back to school, the graduates began their new lives. But no matter how many years pass, whenever they see a high school football game or an students was old prom dress or a anything from yearbook, they remember Pat McGee's Surf how it used to be . . . and Shop in 'Port A''. they cherish.
